RUSSIANS ARE ALERT

REDOUBLE VIGILANCE IN ANTICIPATION OF ATTACK BY ENEMY'S SHIPS.

NAVAL BATTLE MAY OCCUR

JAPANESE SQUADRON REPORTED AT DIEGO GARCIA, ON THE CHAGOS ISLANDS.

Port Louis, Island of Mauritius, Jan. 11.—It is rumored here that a Japanese squadron is at Diego Garcia, Chagos Islands.

The Russian admiral was informed Jan. 2 that Japanese warships were proceeding to meet the Russian squadron and the vigilance of the latter was redoubled.

The aide de camp of the Russian admiral in an interview at Tamatave, capital of the island of Madagascar, was quoted as saying that the Russian squadron would require a month to cross the Indian ocean.

Sandakan, British North Borneo, Jan. 11.—Two Japanese transports were reported off Labun on Jan. 4. Two colliers for the Russian Baltic squadron were at Labun on Jan. 7.

RESIGNATION NOT ACCEPTED.

Czar Nicholas Loth to Let Prince Mirsky Step Out.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—Emperor Nicholas has not yet accepted Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's resignation of the ministry of the interior. The minister has informed his majesty of his desire to be relieved of the office because the imperial reform programme did not go far enough to meet his views, but the emperor so far has persuaded him to remain in the ministry.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's retirement soon, however, is regarded as certain, and M. Witte, apparently, is equally certain of becoming the Bismarck of Russia, despite the fact that he is cordially hated as well as feared at court. Even the emperor seems to shrink from the influence of this strong man, which is accepted as accounting for his reluctance to give up Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky so long as M. Witte stands as the only alternative. M. Witte's friends, however, do not believe that he will accept the ministry of the interior, being of the opinion that nothing less than the post of chancellor, which would give him official dignity as well as power, would satisfy him if the emperor should call him to the helm at the present crisis.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL'S SCHEME.

Would Have Peace Declared Until Russia Could Get a Big Fleet.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Vice Admiral Doubovoff, the Russian member of the North sea commission, is quoted by the Echo de Paris as having stated in an interview that he had submitted to Emperor Nicholas a programme for a reorganization of the navy, which is absolutely indispensable for success in the war against Japan. Twenty months will be necessary for its execution. Admiral Doubovoff thought the prospect for Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron was hopeless. He unhesitatingly declared that he considered a provisional peace would shortly be probable, Japan retaining Port Arthur and other territories which she has occupied. Russia, meanwhile, the admiral said, would prepare an invincible fleet for a future effort.

REAL DEFENDER OF FORTRESS.

General Kondratenko the Man Who Would Not Surrender.

London, Jan. 11.—The Daily Telegraph's Port Arthur correspondent says that, according to stories by prisoners, the real defender of the fortress was General Kondratenko, commander of the Seventh East Siberian rifle brigade, who was killed Dec. 15, and that had he lived it is probable the fortress would not have been surrendered. General Stoessel, the correspondent adds, was inclined to surrender as early as last August. The garrison, he concluded, included 10,000 Poles, who were indifferent fighters.

TWENTY JAPANESE KILLED.

Russian Contact Mines Explode at Port Arthur.

London, Jan. 11.—The correspondent at Port Arthur of the Daily Mail says that on Jan. 8 twenty Japanese were killed by the explosion of a contact mine inside one of the forts, and that two mines in the town also exploded.

Fatal kidney and bladder troubles can always be prevented by the use of Foley's Kidney Cure. H. P. Dunn & Co.

BANKING AND CURRENCY BILL.

Measure Occupies Almost the Entire Time of the House.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The session of the house Tuesday was given over almost entirely to discussion of the bill reported by the committee on banking and currency "to improve currency conditions." A sudden interest in the measure seemed to develop, as evidenced by the large membership present throughout the day. The Democratic opposition mainly was dissipated by the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Williams (Miss.) providing that government deposits shall be made only on competitive bids. Final action on the bill was not taken.

The impeachment charges on which Judge Charles Swaine will be tried were presented just before adjournment and notice was given by Mr. Palmer (Pa.), chairman of the committee of seven which prepared them, that he would call the matter up on Thursday next.

THE JOINT STATEHOOD BILL.

Consideration of the Measure Continued by the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The senate Tuesday continued consideration of the joint statehood bill, the chief accomplishment being the acceptance of most of the amendments suggested by the committee on Indian affairs. Speeches were made by Messrs. Stewart and Newlands, the former advocating an amendment for the protection of the interests of the Indians in Indian Territory and the latter favoring limitation of the area of lands to be sold to individuals.

The bill for the reimbursement of American sealers for losses under the seizures in Behring sea also was considered but a vote was not reached.

GETS MATERIAL AID

GOVERNOR LAFOLLETTE OF WISCONSIN ORGANIZES STATE LEGISLATURE.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 11.—Governor LaFollette Tuesday night in the assembly and senate caucuses succeeded in organizing both in his interest. This is taken as aiding him materially in his contest for the senatorship, for he will be able, if plans do not miscarry, to rush through such legislation as he has been working for before Jan. 17, when the vote for senator will be taken. The assembly was in his favor by a large majority. The senate was won by the securing of the votes of three doubtful senators who were able to control the situation, and who by securing the chief clerkship for their nominee were persuaded to vote with the governor's supporters for the other officers of the senate.

RECEIVED A SEVERE SHOCK.

Belief in Russia's Invincibility Badly Jarred by Port Arthur's Fall.

London, Jan. 11.—Discussing the effect of the fall of Port Arthur on the near Eastern question, the Constantinople correspondent of the Times says that belief in Russia's invincibility has received a severe shock, the result of which among the Balkan states is rather exaggerated fears of Russian encroachments in Macedonia.

These nervous apprehensions tend to increase Serbian efforts at rapprochement with Bulgaria. The effects produced in Constantinople, the correspondent says, are likely to be more serious. Turkey is quick to appreciate the military significance of events in the far East and is likely to stiffen in her attitude toward the reforming powers in Macedonia. Already there are indications that Turkey is preparing severe repressive measures to forestall the apprehended rising in the spring; but there is reason to fear that these measures may hasten rather than avert the outbreak.

CREATES A SENSATION.

Missouri Legislator Asks for Investigation of Alleged Bribery Story.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—Representative Grace of St. Louis Tuesday introduced a resolution in the lower house of the general assembly calling for an investigation of the report that St. Louis brewers had given $21,000 to Thomas K. Niedringhaus, chairman of the state Republican committee and caucus nominee for United States senator, to influence legislation during the present session of the legislature.

The resolution created a sensation. In an instant a dozen representatives were on their feet clamoring for recognition. A motion to lay the resolution on the table was lost, after a roll call had been demanded.

Train Kills Man and Team.

Winthrop, Minn., Jan. 11.—William Goodman, living nine miles southeast of town, was killed Tuesday evening by a Minneapolis and St. Louis passenger train. His horses were also killed.

HOUSE MUST DECIDE

QUESTION OF AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS TO REVISE THE TARIFF.

SENATE HAS NO OBJECTION

AND PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS WILLING TO CALL IT WHENEVER DESIRED.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Whether there will be an extra session of congress for a revision of the tariff is a question, in the expressed opinion of a number of leaders of the senate, that must be determined by the president and the house. In other words, several senators contend steadfastly that the responsibility of tariff revision agitation must be borne by the house, while the senate will join in perfecting such legislation as may be provided if an extra session is called by the president and a bill be passed by the house.

The senators holding this view are not confined to those who, with certain house leaders, attended the conference held at the White House to sound the sentiment of congress. Yet they assume, without any public confirmation of the fact, that the attitude of the senate conferees was not in opposition to tariff revision if that programme should be decided upon by the president. It is declared, therefore, that the senate does not stand in the way of an early decision as to the necessity or advisability of action by congress before the next regular session of congress.

Senate Will Erect No Barrier.

Senators who plan to place on the house the burden of an extra session argue that certain house members, in discussing the relative positions of the two legislative branches of congress, have not refrained from advancing the charge that the senate does not represent the people as does the house and say that if opposition to an extra session is made effective it will not be the senate that erects the barrier.

Few senators are to be found who are willing to discuss the matter for publication beyond saying that if a tariff session is called it should not be held before autumn, to be convened in October preferably.

There is a lively exchange of views and gossip regarding tariff revision going on in the house. The speaker and prominent members of the ways and means committee are collating the views of members personally.

President Roosevelt favors the earliest possible action looking to a revision by congress of the tariff. He so informed the senators and representatives who were in conference with him at the White House last Saturday and he has made plain his position to others since that conference. He will call the Fifty-ninth congress into extraordinary session as soon as the committees have indicated that they are prepared to submit a tariff measure for passage.

Thinks Schedules Should Be Changed.

One of those present at the conference on Saturday said that the president informed him that while he did not believe in any sweeping reductions of the tariff and would abide absolutely by the judgment of the two committees of the senate and house, yet he did think the schedules should be thoroughly examined and there should be a readjustment as to certain of them. The president added that his own view was that the special session should take place at the earliest date by which the committees of the two houses could come to an agreement as to the bill. If they took this view, he said, he would hold himself ready to call the extraordinary session at whatever time the members of the two committees, and especially the house committee on ways and means, should inform him they would be ready with their report.

If congress should act on the tariff question in accordance with the president's desire it was made perfectly plain Tuesday that the extraordinary session would be called to assemble the coming spring, or in the summer if deemed advisable.

FINNS AND ITALIANS CLASH.

Three Killed and Several Others Hurt in Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 11.—In a fierce fight between Finns and Italians constructing the Soo line extension thirty miles west of Sudbury three were killed and several injured.

The men were employed by Moore & Northrup and the quarrel was of long standing, culminating in the use of knives and revolvers.

MOTHER AND CHILD PERISH.

Four Other Persons Seriously Injured by Fire at Lisbon, N. D.

Lisbon, N. D., Jan. 11.—George Hanna's farmhouse burned in the morning, and Mrs. Thomas Hanna and her infant, who were there visiting, were burned to death. Four of the members of the family were seriously burned or frozen.

Declines to Be a Candidate.

Havana, Jan. 11.—General Maximo Gomez has published a letter declining to allow himself to be mentioned as a candidate for the presidency.

IN BATTLE WITH MOROS.

Officer and One Man Killed and Six Officers and Privates Wounded.

Manila, Jan. 11.—In an engagement which took place on Jan. 8 with refractory Moros on the island of Jolo Lieutenant James J. Jewell and one private of the Fourteenth United States cavalry were killed and Second Lieutenant Roy W. Ashbrook of the Seventeenth United States infantry, Captain Halstead Dorey of the Fourth United States infantry, Second Lieutenant R. C. Richardson of the Fourteenth United States cavalry and three privates were wounded.

The action resulted from an attempt to capture a Moro fort. The Moro chief was killed and the fort destroyed.

AMATEURISH TO A DEGREE.

Attempt to Blow Up Statue of Frederick the Great.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Somewhat of a sensation was caused in this city Tuesday by the discovery of what appeared to be a definite and serious attempt to blow up or deface the statue of Frederick the Great given to the United States by Emperor William of Germany and erected in the arsenal grounds near the army war college on the Potomac river water front in the southern part of the city. It was believed at first that a crank had made a serious effort at destruction of the statue, but after a careful investigation the police officials say the material used was incapable of producing damaging results. All the evidence secured so far, the police announce, tend to show that the attempted effort to injure the statue was puny and amateurish to a degree. It is regarded as an attempt to work up a sensation. A hole in the soft mud about six inches deep by six inches wide and twelve inches long, shattered window panes in nearby buildings and five or six splashes of yellow clay on as many granite steps summed up the damage done by the bomb, which had been placed on a high picket fence surrounding the statue. An analysis and examination of the bomb shows the substance used had not sufficient strength to wreck the fence.

Attempt to Blow Up Statue of Frederick the Great.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Somewhat of a sensation was caused in this city Tuesday by the discovery of what appeared to be a definite and serious attempt to blow up or deface the statue of Frederick the Great given to the United States by Emperor William of Germany and erected in the arsenal grounds near the army war college on the Potomac river water front in the southern part of the city. It was believed at first that a crank had made a serious effort at destruction of the statue, but after a careful investigation the police officials say the material used was incapable of producing damaging results. All the evidence secured so far, the police announce, tend to show that the attempted effort to injure the statue was puny and amateurish to a degree. It is regarded as an attempt to work up a sensation. A hole in the soft mud about six inches deep by six inches wide and twelve inches long, shattered window panes in nearby buildings and five or six splashes of yellow clay on as many granite steps summed up the damage done by the bomb, which had been placed on a high picket fence surrounding the statue. An analysis and examination of the bomb shows the substance used had not sufficient strength to wreck the fence.

RUSSIANS ARE ALERT

REDDOUBLE VIGILANCE IN ANTICIPATION OF ATTACK BY ENEMY'S SHIPS.

NAVAL BATTLE MAY OCCUR

JAPANESE SQUADRON REPORTED AT DIEGO GARCIA, ON THE CHAGOS ISLANDS.

Port Louis, Island of Mauritius, Jan. 11.—It is rumored here that a Japanese squadron is at Diego Garcia, Chagos Islands.

The Russian admiral was informed Jan. 2 that Japanese warships were proceeding to meet the Russian squadron and the vigilance of the latter was redoubled.

The aide de camp of the Russian admiral in an interview at Tamatave, capital of the island of Madagascar, was quoted as saying that the Russian squadron would require a month to cross the Indian ocean.

Sandakan, British North Borneo, Jan. 11.—Two Japanese transports were reported off Labun on Jan. 4. Two colliers for the Russian Baltic squadron were at Labun on Jan. 7.

RESIGNATION NOT ACCEPTED.

Czar Nicholas Loth to Let Prince Mirsky Step Out.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—Emperor Nicholas has not yet accepted Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's resignation of the ministry of the interior. The minister has informed his majesty of his desire to be relieved of the office because the imperial reform programme did not go far enough to meet his views, but the emperor so far has persuaded him to remain in the ministry.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's retirement soon, however, is regarded as certain, and M. Witte, apparently, is equally certain of becoming the Bismarck of Russia, despite the fact that he is cordially hated as well as feared at court. Even the emperor seems to shrink from the influence of this strong man, which is accepted as accounting for his reluctance to give up Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky so long as M. Witte stands as the only alternative. M. Witte's friends, however, do not believe that he will accept the ministry of the interior, being of the opinion that nothing less than the post of chancellor, which would give him official dignity as well as power, would satisfy him if the emperor should call him to the helm at the present crisis.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL'S SCHEME.

Would Have Peace Declared Until Russia Could Get a Big Fleet.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Vice Admiral Doubassoff, the Russian member of the North sea commission, is quoted by the Echo de Paris as having stated in an interview that he had submitted to Emperor Nicholas a programme for a reorganization of the navy, which is absolutely indispensable for success in the war against Japan. Twenty months will be necessary for its execution. Admiral Doubassoff thought the prospect for Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron was hopeless. He unhesitatingly declared that he considered a provisional peace would shortly be probable, Japan retaining Port Arthur and other territories which she has occupied. Russia, meanwhile, the admiral said, would prepare an invincible fleet for a future effort.

REAL DEFENDER OF FORTRESS.

General Kondratenko the Man Who Would Not Surrender.

London, Jan. 11.—The Daily Telegraph's Port Arthur correspondent says that, according to stories by prisoners, the real defender of the fortress was General Kondratenko, commander of the Seventh East Siberian rifle brigade, who was killed Dec. 15, and that had he lived it is probable the fortress would not have been surrendered. General Stoessel, the correspondent adds, was inclined to surrender as early as last August. The garrison, he concluded, included 10,000 Poles, who were indifferent fighters.

TWENTY JAPANESE KILLED.

Russian Contact Mines Explode at Port Arthur.

London, Jan. 11.—The correspondent at Port Arthur of the Daily Mail says that on Jan. 8 twenty Japanese were killed by the explosion of a contact mine inside one of the forts, and that two mines in the town also exploded.

BANKING AND CURRENCY BILL.

Measure Occupies Almost the Entire Time of the House.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The session of the house Tuesday was given over almost entirely to discussion of the bill reported by the committee on banking and currency "to improve currency conditions." A sudden interest in the measure seemed to develop, as evidenced by the large membership present throughout the day. The Democratic opposition mainly was dissipated by the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Williams (Miss.) providing that government deposits shall be made only on competitive bids. Final action on the bill was not taken.

The impeachment charges on which Judge Charles Swayne will be tried were presented just before adjournment and notice was given by Mr. Palmer (Pa.), chairman of the committee of seven which prepared them, that he would call the matter up on Thursday next.

THE JOINT STATEHOOD BILL.

Consideration of the Measure Continued by the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The senate Tuesday continued consideration of the joint statehood bill, the chief accomplishment being the acceptance of most of the amendments suggested by the committee on Indian affairs. Speeches were made by Messrs. Stewart and Newlands, the former advocating an amendment for the protection of the interests of the Indians in Indian Territory and the latter favoring limitation of the area of lands to be sold to individuals.

The bill for the reimbursement of American sealers for losses under the seizures in Behring sea also was considered but a vote was not reached.

GETS MATERIAL AID

GOVERNOR LAFOLLETTE OF WISCONSIN ORGANIZES STATE LEGISLATURE.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 11.—Governor LaFollette Tuesday night in the assembly and senate caucuses succeeded in organizing both in his interest. This is taken as aiding him materially in his contest for the senatorship, for he will be able, if plans do not miscarry, to rush through such legislation as he has been working for before Jan. 17, when the vote for senator will be taken. The assembly was in his favor by a large majority. The senate was won by the securing of the votes of three doubtful senators who were able to control the situation, and who by securing the chief clerkship for their nominee were persuaded to vote with the governor's supporters for the other officers of the senate.

RECEIVED A SEVERE SHOCK.

Belief in Russia's Invincibility Badly Jarred by Port Arthur's Fall.

London, Jan. 11.—Discussing the effect of the fall of Port Arthur on the near Eastern question, the Constantinople correspondent of the Times says that belief in Russia's invincibility has received a severe shock, the result of which among the Balkan states is rather exaggerated fears of Russian encroachments in Macedonia.

These nervous apprehensions tend to increase Servian efforts at rapprochement with Bulgaria. The effects produced in Constantinople, the correspondent says, are likely to be more serious. Turkey is quick to appreciate the military significance of events in the far East and is likely to stiffen in her attitude toward the reforming powers in Macedonia. Already there are indications that Turkey is preparing severe repressive measures to forestall the apprehended rising in the spring; but there is reason to fear that these measures may hasten rather than avert the outbreak.

CREATES A SENSATION.

Missouri Legislator Asks for Investigation of Alleged Bribery Story.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—Representative Grace of St. Louis Tuesday introduced a resolution in the lower house of the general assembly calling for an investigation of the report that St. Louis brewers had given $21,000 to Thomas K. Niedringhaus, chairman of the state republican committee and caucus nominee for United States senator, to influence legislation during the present session of the legislature.

The resolution created a sensation. In an instant a dozen representatives were on their feet clamoring for recognition. A motion to lay the resolution on the table was lost, after a roll call had been demanded.

HOUSE MUST DECIDE

QUESTION OF AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS TO REVISE THE TARIFF.

SENATE HAS NO OBJECTION

AND PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS WILLING TO CALL IT WHENEVER DESIRED.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Whether there will be an extra session of congress for a revision of the tariff is a question, in the expressed opinion of a number of leaders of the senate, that must be determined by the president and the house. In other words, several senators contend steadfastly that the responsibility of tariff revision agitation must be borne by the house, while the senate will join in perfecting such legislation as may be provided if an extra session is called by the president and a bill be passed by the house.

The senators holding this view are not confined to those who, with certain house leaders, attended the conference held at the White House to sound the sentiment of congress. Yet they assume, without any public confirmation of the fact, that the attitude of the senate conferees was not in opposition to tariff revision if that programme should be decided upon by the president. It is declared, therefore, that the senate does not stand in the way of an early decision as to the necessity or advisability of action by congress before the next regular session of congress.

Senate Will Erect No Barrier.

Senators who plan to place on the house the burden of an extra session argue that certain house members, in discussing the relative positions of the two legislative branches of congress, have not refrained from advancing the charge that the senate does not represent the people as does the house and say that if opposition to an extra session is made effective it will not be the senate that erects the barrier.

Few senators are to be found who are willing to discuss the matter for publication beyond saying that if a tariff session is called it should not be held before autumn, to be convened in October preferably.

There is a lively exchange of views and gossip regarding tariff revision going on in the house. The speaker and prominent members of the ways and means committee are collating the views of members personally.

President Roosevelt favors the earliest possible action looking to a revision by congress of the tariff. He so informed the senators and representatives who were in conference with him at the White House last Saturday and he has made plain his position to others since that conference. He will call the Fifty-ninth congress

into extraordinary session as soon as the committees have indicated that they are prepared to submit a tariff measure for passage.

Thinks Schedules Should Be Changed.

One of those present at the conference on Saturday said that the president informed him that while he did not believe in any sweeping reductions of the tariff and would abide absolutely by the judgment of the two committees of the senate and house, yet he did think the schedules should be thoroughly examined and there should be a readjustment as to certain of them. The president added that his own view was that the special session should take place at the earliest date by which the committees of the two houses could come to an agreement as to the bill. If they took this view, he said, he would hold himself ready to call the extraordinary session at whatever time the members of the two committees, and especially the house committee on ways and means, should inform him they would be ready with their report.

If congress should act on the tariff question in accordance with the president's desire it was made perfectly plain Tuesday that the extraordinary session would be called to assemble the coming spring, or in the summer if deemed advisable.

Ashbrook of the Seventeenth United States infantry, Captain Halstead Dorey of the Fourth United States infantry, Second Lieutenant R. C. The action resulted from an attempt to capture a Moro fort. The Moro chief was killed and the fort destroyed.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1905.

WEATHER indications point to a large and bountiful ice crop. Minnesota has never known a failure.

GOOD roads legislation is the aim of nine-tenths of the members of the legislature from Northern Minnesota. If they mean it they can accomplish something for their constituents.

It is now said that the office of insurance commissioner is a lucrative sinecure embodying fees to the amount of between $16,000 and $20,000. This is another office that should be placed on a straight salary basis along with the oil inspectorship.

THOMAS W. LAWSON is going to reform
the world and has started in on Wall street. If he only succeeds in reforming Wall street he will have accomplished a greater job than most any one else
would care to tackle.

THE Minneapolis Journal names
Speaker Clague as a possible candidate for governor two years hence. We doubt if there was ever a man elected speaker of the Minnesota house who did not have aspirations in that direction,
although not always realized.

IF THE quarters assigned the Minneapolis and St. Paul newspaper redorters had been comfortably and conveniently situated near the speaker's desk the new capitol would not have been half bad and it would have escaped a lot of cheap advertising that it does not deserve, and that is not a credit to the state. At the close of the session, however, it will be the proper thing for the legislature to vote these reporters $150 each for "services rendered."

MINNESOTA'S vote for President Roosevelt was taken to Washington by Geo. W.
Peterson, of Long Prairie, who was selected for the task by the electors.
Owing to the failure of Gov. Van Sant to call the electors together earlier the time was limited as the day set for the return of the electoral vote was Wednesday. Mr. Peterson left Monday night and if he should fail to arrive at his destination on schedule time he will be subject to a fine of $1,000. His per diem and mileage amounts to $450.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.

According to the report sent out in advance Lieutenant Governor Jones will announce the senate committees today,
and it is understood there will be few changes. Senator Frater, the one new man, will take the places held by the late Senator A. F. Ferris with one exception says the Journal. That is the tax committee, of which Mr. Ferris was a member. An understanding had been reached by which Senator Ferris was to give his place on that committee at this session to John Schutz of Marshall, and that will be carried out, shutting the new senator out of this important committee. His experience of sixteen years as county treasurer would make him a valuable member.

Banking in Japan.

The Japanese banks recently allowed from 5.5 to 5.9 per cent interest on deposits and charged from 7.9 to 9.1 per cent interest on loans. It is evident that banking in Japan is profitable.

A Winter Afternoon.

A swirl of brown leaves frosted thick
with snow;
A low, gray sky of interlapping clouds;
A bank high streamlet that has ceased to flow,
Gaunt armed, bare trees close wrapped
in sleety shrouds,
A lone bird fares athwart the drooping
sky
With sure, strong wing which pulses
swift and true;
Forth from his covert slinks the fox, his eye
With hunger wild, roams searching out
the view.
A farmhouse, gabled, lying wrapped in
snow;
A wreath of smoke corkscrewing the
cold air;
The muffled shapes of men which come
and go,
And bitter, biting winter everywhere.
—Edward Carlisle Litsey in Housekeeper.

SOCIALIST'S NEAR CALL

Des Moines Man's Risky Plan to Aid His Party.

IN PERIL AFTER AN OPERATION.

Handicapped by an Impediment in His Speech, Joseph Fager Took a Desperate Chance That He Might Be Better Fitted to Work For the Cause of Socialism.

Blanched by loss of blood and the closest call from death known to Des Moines (Ia.) physicians in many months,
Joseph Fager lies on a cot at Still college hospital, slowly regaining the strength which he lost after a delicate surgical operation performed a few days ago, says a Des Moines special to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
Fager is a Socialist.

During the past few weeks he has been negotiating with the Des Moines branch of that party with a view to becoming its business agent for the Socialists of Polk county and giving all his time and energy to the cause, for which an ardent devotion had developed in the young engineer. Fager has been for months in charge of the engine room of the Elliott hotel.

From babyhood he has been hampered by an impediment in his speech, resulting from the growth of the inner flesh of his cheek against the gums of his upper and lower jaw. Three times within the past few years he consulted specialists in regard to this deformity.
One noted surgeon in New York told him the operation for the separation of the parts might be successfully performed, but that the chances were 65
in 100 that the patient would bleed to death under the surgeon's knife. Another specialist in St. Louis and a third in Chicago gave the same opinion. The operation, therefore, was delayed indefinitely.

"I'll take it this time," Fager told his friends and the doctors when he announced finally his determination to have the operation performed. "If it is successful I will be able to speak effectively for Socialism. If it fails you can get another for the work," he told the "comrades" who protested that the risk was too great.

Surgeons at the college performed
the operation. The flesh of the cheek
was deftly cut away from the jaws,
the raw surfaces were packed with an antiseptic preparation to induce their healing apart, the patient was fed, and recovery set in. Fager grew steady-ly better. The comfort and weariness
of the sickbed gave way to restlessness,
and in a few moments of the nurse's
absence Fager got up, dressed himself and took a few turns about his room for exercise.

The shock to his weakened system
started his wounds to bleeding. Fager got back into bed and waited for the nurse to return. To her he explained
what he had done, and the doctors were sent for. By the time they arrived the patient had weakened from the loss of blood. Desperate efforts were made to stop the bleeding. Every plan known to the surgeons was resorted to. They all failed. All day and all night the lifeblood of the young engineer flowed from the open wound in his cheek.

More doctors were called in. Other measures for stanching the flow of red blood were tried. Again they failed, and all that day the bleeding went on, slowly, steadily, mercilessly. The patient grew weaker and weaker.

"He cannot live," said the surgeon
whose keen blade had opened the wound.

"My friend," the doctor said, turning
to the whitened face of the sufferer,
"if you have any people, any very
dear friends, any father, mother, tell us. We must send for them."

Fager smiled faintly. His lips parted
as if to speak. The doctors bent close to catch his words. There was no sound.

"He's too far gone to talk," the doctor said.

A series of questions were put to the young man, and after many minutes
the physicians and Fager's friends understood that the man had no relatives anywhere. He was a member of the Highland Park lodge of Odd Fellows and signified that he wanted that order to take charge of his body.

All hope had been given up when another doctor came into the sick-room. He suggested a new remedy.
Eager helpers rushed across the street
to the college, broke open a window and got a quantity of gelatin. It was fed to Fager generously. He took it eagerly and showed signs of gaining strength. Within an hour the flow of blood had ceased, and the doctors announced that the young man would get well.

In Memoriam.

Admirers of Mark Twain believe he has never written anything more effective, says Harper's Weekly, than the little verse he had cut in the modest block of marble which marks the resting place of his wife in Woodlawn cemetery, Elmira, N. Y.:

Warm summer sun,
Shine kindly here,
Warm southern wind,
Blow softly here,
Green sod above,
Lie light, lie light,
Good night, good heart,
Good night, good heart.

Increase in Russian Train Wrecking.

Russian railroad officials are much alarmed over the increase in attempts to wreck trains in that country. The attempts average one in three days,
and 11 per cent result in damage. It is proposed to arm all railway officials and give ex-soldiers positions whenever possible and in this way put a check to the practice.

THEODORE THOMAS STORIES

Incidents in the Career of the Well Known Orchestra Conductor.

The personality of the late Theodore Thomas, the eminent orchestral conductor, was especially interesting from the fact that his peculiarities were of a kind more frequently found among great generals, political leaders and captains of industry than among musicians, says the Buffalo Express.

Punctuality was one of his most conspicuous traits. So unswerving was he in this particular that his lieutenants and those members of his organization most ambitious to stand high in his regard adopted the rule of being on hand fifteen minutes in advance of the appointed time at all important engagements in which Mr. Thomas was personally concerned. It is said that one member of the orchestra determined to achieve the novel distinction in the course of an annual tour of arriving at the railway station, ready for departure, before Mr. Thomas should appear.
Several times he attempted this feat,
but he always found the leader there before him. This time, however, he walked into the station thirty minutes before starting time. But there, inside
the waiting room, was Mr. Thomas!

At a musical festival in a southern city, says Everybody's Magazine, a local chorus was to take part with the Chicago orchestra directed by Theodore Thomas. One number had an orchestral prelude, the chorus to come in at a certain phrase. Four bars before the cue note was one somewhat similar,
and when that was reached the chorus,
being possibly overwrought or seized
by some panic mania for blundering,
promptly came in—four bars ahead of the proper place.

A frightful discord arose, and the manager, standing in the wings, literally tore his hair. The whole performance seemed falling about his ears in hopeless ruin.

But the next moment he found, to his amazement, no more discord, but orchestra and chorus moving along so amicably that only those familiar with the score suspected the imminent shipwreck. So to the end it went, smoothly and perfectly.

When it was over, big eyed and still mopping his brow, the manager sought
Mr. Thomas.

"Say," he gasped, "I wish you would tell me how you did that!"

"Oh," said Mr. Thomas easily, "I just jumped the orchestra ahead four bars;
that was all." But no one yet knows how.

NATIONAL GAME PRESERVE.

Tract of Land in Oklahoma to Be Stocked With Beasts and Birds.

The proposition to convert the national forest reserve in the Wichita mountains, in southwestern Oklahoma, into a national game preserve is meeting with such encouragement that already the plans for its maintenance are being considered, says a dispatch from Guthrie, Okla. It will be the first national game preserve in the entire United States.

Fifty-four miles of meshed and barbed wire fence will be used to inclose a twelve mile square tract of land, with-
in which will be dams that will cover 8,000 acres with water.

In addition to this large tract will be the adjoining Fort Sill military reservation of 58,000 acres, now covered by the national game laws. The preserve's boundary line cuts in twain Mount Scott and Mount Sheridan, two of the loftiest peaks in the Wichitas, and it is hoped to get the consent of the general land department allowing these two mountains in their entirety to be inclosed.

The originator of the plan to establish
such a preserve in Oklahoma is A. C.
Cooper of Fort Sill, a typical western sportsman of the old type, who has made Fort Sill his headquarters for fourteen years. He began his service
there as a United States infantryman
and hunted all over the Wichita mountains in the days before any of Oklahoma was opened for settlement. He conceived the idea of converting the national forest preserve into a game
preserve, and with a commission empowering him to act Cooper took the matter
up with the National Sportsmen's league in their annual convention last February at Columbus, O., and so interested the delegates that a bill was immediately drafted. This bill has passed the house and is pending in the senate.

Already within the confines of this proposed preserve, which in effect will be a national breeding farm, there are many wild animals and birds. They exist entirely off the natural products
of the land, such as acorns, haws and grubworms. It is planned during the first year of the preserve to sow the valleys to Kaffir corn and sunflowers,
products which will seed the ground
and insure an annual crop without replanting. These will furnish an additional big food supply to the game.

A Big Farm's Products.

What is believed to be the largest cultivated farm in the Indian Territory
lies on a big bend in the Arkansas river
in the Osage Nation, says the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal. This is known as the Bill Connor ranch. The river at that place makes a sweeping curve around twelve sections of land. It is a leasehold owned by H. Gilliland of Ponca City. A large per cent of this land is under cultivation. In 1903
there was 125,000 bushels of corn in addition to a big crop of cotton and other crops. The 1904 crop is larger.
The corn is husked and piled on the ground in large ricks. One of these big piles of corn was sold just as it lay on the ground for $9,000 in cash.
It is believed that the value of the 1904
corn crop on this farm will be $36,000,
and the other crops will swell this amount to $50,000.

Superintendent Strachan of the Minnesota & International Railway company was in Bemidji the other day and was approached by a prominent business man regarding the rates for transporting cordwood over the line which are now in effect says the Daily Pioneer.
Mr. Strachan had read the article published some time ago relative to the matter and stated that he was heartily in favor of a reduction in the rates now
charged by the company and would use
his influence to bring about a change.
He said that he realized the importance
of a rate reduction before all the pine
now standing was cut down, as he knew
that a fire would cause the destruction of a large amount of timber suitable for cordwood and would without a doubt

occur as soon as the tops left after the pine had been removed became dry.
This declaration on the part of a railway official indicates that the company
does not oppose the reduction in rates
and it is thought that if a petition signed by those interested were presented to the company the desired result could be brought about.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1905.

WEATHER indications point to a large and bountiful ice crop. Minnesota has never known a failure.

Good roads legislation is the aim of nine-tenths of the members of the legislature from Northern Minnesota. If they mean it they can accomplish something for their constituents.

It is now said that the office of insurance commissioner is a lucrative sinecure embodying fees to the amount of between $16,000 and $20,000. This is another office that should be placed on a straight salary basis along with the oil inspectorship.

THOMAS W. LAWSON is going to reform the world and has started in on Wall street. If he only succeeds in reforming Wall street he will have accomplished a greater job than most any one else would care to tackle.

The Minneapolis Journal names Speaker Clague as a possible candidate for governor two years hence. We doubt if there was ever a man elected speaker of the Minnesota house who did not have aspirations in that direction, although not always realized.

IF THE quarters assigned the Minneapolis and St. Paul newspaper reporters had been comfortably and conveniently situated near the speaker's desk the new capitol would not have been half bad and it would have escaped a lot of cheap advertising that it does not deserve, and that is not a credit to the state. At the close of the session, however, it will be the proper thing for the legislature to vote these reporters $150 each for "services rendered."

MINNESOTA'S vote for President Roosevelt was taken to Washington by Geo. W. Peterson, of Long Prairie, who was selected for the task by the electors. Owing to the failure of Gov. Van Sant to call the electors together earlier the time was limited as the day set for the return of the electoral vote was Wednesday. Mr. Peterson left Monday night and if he should fail to arrive at his destination on schedule time he will be subject to a fine of $1,000. His per diem and mileage amounts to $450.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.

According to the report sent out in advance Lieutenant Governor Jones will announce the senate committees today, and it is understood there will be few changes. Senator Frater, the one new man, will take the places held by the late Senator A. F. Ferris with one exception says the Journal. That is the tax committee, of which Mr. Ferris was a member. An understanding had been reached by which Senator Ferris was to give his place on that committee at this session to John Schutz of Marshall, and that will be carried out, shutting the new senator out of this important committee. His experience of sixteen years as county treasurer would make him a valuable member.

Banking in Japan.
The Japanese banks recently allowed from 5.5 to 5.9 per cent interest on deposits and charged from 7.9 to 9.1 per cent interest on loans. It is evident that banking in Japan is profitable.

A Winter Afternoon.

A swirl of brown leaves frosted thick with snow;
A low, gray sky of interlapping clouds;
A bank high streamlet that has ceased to flow,
Gaunt armed, bare trees close wrapped in sleety shrouds.

A lone bird fares athwart the drooping sky
With sure, strong wing which pulses swift and true;
Forth from his covert slinks the fox, his eye
With hunger wild, roams searching out the view.

A farmhouse, gabled, lying wrapped in snow;
A wreath of smoke corkscrewing the cold air;
The muffled shapes of men which come and go,
And bitter, biting winter everywhere.
—Edward Carlisle Litsey in Housekeeper.

SOCIALIST'S NEAR CALL.

Des Moines Man's Risky Plan to Aid His Party.

IN PERIL AFTER AN OPERATION.

Handicapped by an Impediment in His Speech, Joseph Fager Took a Desperate Chance That He Might Be Better Fitted to Work For the Cause of Socialism.

Blinded by loss of blood and the closest call from death known to Des Moines (Ia.) physicians in many months, Joseph Fager lies on a cot at Still college hospital, slowly regaining the strength which he lost after a delicate surgical operation performed a few days ago, says a Des Moines special to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Fager is a Socialist.

During the past few weeks he has been negotiating with the Des Moines branch of that party with a view to becoming its business agent for the Socialists of Polk county and giving all his time and energy to the cause, for which an ardent devotion had developed in the young engineer. Fager has been for months in charge of the engine room of the Elliott hotel.

From babyhood he has been hampered by an impediment in his speech, resulting from the growth of the inner flesh of his cheek against the gums of his upper and lower jaw. Three times within the past few years he consulted specialists in regard to this deformity. One noted surgeon in New York told him the operation for the separation of the parts might be successfully performed, but that the chances were 65 in 100 that the patient would bleed to death under the surgeon's knife. Another specialist in St. Louis and a third in Chicago gave the same opinion. The operation, therefore, was delayed indefinitely.

"I'll take it this time," Fager told his friends and the doctors when he announced finally his determination to have the operation performed. "If it is successful I will be able to speak effectively for Socialism. If it fails you can get another for the work," he told the "comrades" who protested that the risk was too great.

Surgeons at the college performed the operation. The flesh of the cheek was deftly cut away from the jaws, the raw surfaces were packed with an antiseptic preparation to induce their healing apart, the patient was fed, and recuperation set in. Fager grew steadily better. The comfort and weariness of the sickbed gave way to restlessness, and in a few moments of the nurse's absence Fager got up, dressed himself and took a few turns about his room for exercise.

The shock to his weakened system started his wounds to bleeding. Fager got back into bed and waited for the nurse to return. To her he explained what he had done, and the doctors were sent for. By the time they arrived the patient had weakened from the loss of blood. Desperate efforts were made to stop the bleeding. Every plan known to the surgeons was resorted to. They all failed. All day and all night the lifeblood of the young engineer flowed from the open wound in his cheek.

More doctors were called in. Other measures for stanching the flow of red blood were tried. Again they failed, and all that day the bleeding went on, slowly, steadily, mercilessly. The patient grew weaker and weaker.

"He cannot live," said the surgeon whose keen blade had opened the wound.

"My friend," the doctor said, turning to the whitened face of the sufferer, "if you have any people, any very dear friends, any father, mother, tell us. We must send for them."

Fager smiled faintly. His lips parted as if to speak. The doctors bent close to catch his words. There was no sound.

"He's too far gone to talk," the doctor said.

A series of questions were put to the young man, and after many minutes the physicians and Fager's friends understood that the man had no relatives anywhere. He was a member of the Highland Park lodge of Odd Fellows and signified that he wanted that order to take charge of his body.

All hope had been given up when another doctor came into the sickroom. He suggested a new remedy. Eager helpers rushed across the street to the college, broke open a window and got a quantity of gelatin. It was fed to Fager generously. He took it eagerly and showed signs of gaining strength. Within an hour the flow of blood had ceased, and the doctors announced that the young man would get well.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1905.

WEATHER indications point to a large and bountiful ice crop. Minnesota has never known a failure.

Good roads legislation is the aim of nine-tenths of the members of the legislature from Northern Minnesota. If they mean it they can accomplish something for their constituents.

It is now said that the office of insurance commissioner is a lucrative sinecure embodying fees to the amount of between $16,000 and $20,000. This is another office that should be placed on a straight salary basis along with the oil inspectorship.

THOMAS W. LAWSON is going to reform the world and has started in on Wall street. If he only succeeds in reforming Wall street he will have accomplished a greater job than most any one else would care to tackle.

THE Minneapolis Journal names Speaker Clague as a possible candidate for governor two years hence. We doubt if there was ever a man elected speaker of the Minnesota house who did not have aspirations in that direction, although not always realized.

IF THE quarters assigned the Minneapolis and St. Paul newspaper redorters had been comfortably and conveniently situated near the speaker's desk the new capitol would not have been half bad and it would have escaped a lot of cheap advertising that it does not deserve, and that is not a credit to the state. At the close of the session, however, it will be the proper thing for the legislature to vote these reporters $150 each for "services rendered."

MINNESOTA'S vote for President Roosevelt was taken to Washington by Geo. W. Peterson, of Long Prairie, who was selected for the task by the electors. Owing to the failure of Gov. Van Sant to call the electors together earlier the time was limited as the day set for the return of the electoral vote was Wednesday. Mr. Peterson left Monday night and if he should fail to arrive at his destination on schedule time he will be subject to a fine of $1,000. His per diem and mileage amounts to $450.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.

According to the report sent out in advance Lieutenant Governor Jones will announce the senate committees today, and it is understood there will be few changes. Senator Frater, the one new man, will take the places held by the late Senator A. F. Ferris with one exception says the Journal. That is the tax committee, of which Mr. Ferris was a member. An understanding had been reached by which Senator Ferris was to give his place on that committee at this session to John Schutz of Marshall, and that will be carried out, shutting the new senator out of this important committee. His experience of sixteen years as county treasurer would make him a valuable member.

Banking in Japan.

The Japanese banks recently allowed from 5.5 to 5.9 per cent interest on deposits and charged from 7.9 to 9.1 per cent interest on loans. It is evident that banking in Japan is profitable.

A Winter Afternoon.

A swirl of brown leaves frosted thick with snow;
A low, gray sky of interlapping clouds;
A bank high streamlet that has ceased to flow,
Gnant armed, bare trees close wrapped in sleety shrouds.
A lone bird fares athwart the drooping sky
With sure, strong wing which pulses swift and true;
Forth from his covert slinks the fox, his eye
With hunger wild, roams searching out the view.

A farmhouse, gabled, lying wrapped in snow;
A wreath of smoke corkscrewing the cold air;
The muffled shapes of men which come and go,
And bitter, biting winter everywhere.
—Edward Carlisle Litsey in Housekeeper.

SOCIALIST'S NEAR CALL

Des Moines Man's Risky Plan to Aid His Party.

IN PERIL AFTER AN OPERATION.

Handicapped by an Impediment in His Speech, Joseph Fager Took a Desperate Chance That He Might Be Better Fitted to Work for the Cause of Socialism.

Blinded by loss of blood and the closest call from death known to Des Moines (Ia.) physicians in many months, Joseph Fager lies on a cot at Still college hospital, slowly regaining the strength which he lost after a delicate surgical operation performed a few days ago, says a Des Moines special to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Fager is a Socialist. During the past few weeks he has been negotiating with the Des Moines branch of that party with a view to becoming its business agent for the Socialists of Polk county and giving all his time and energy to the cause, for which an ardent devotion had developed in the young engineer. Fager has been for months in charge of the engine room of the Elliott hotel.

From babyhood he has been hampered by an impediment in his speech, resulting from the growth of the inner flesh of his cheek against the gums of his upper and lower jaw. Three times within the past few years he consulted specialists in regard to this deformity. One noted surgeon in New York told him the operation for the separation of the parts might be successfully performed, but that the chances were 65 in 100 that the patient would bleed to death under the surgeon's knife. Another specialist in St. Louis and a third in Chicago gave the same opinion. The operation, therefore, was delayed indefinitely.

"I'll take it this time," Fager told his friends and the doctors when he announced finally his determination to have the operation performed. "If it is successful I will be able to speak effectively for Socialism. If it fails you can get another for the work," he told the "comrades" who protested that the risk was too great.

Surgeons at the college performed the operation. The flesh of the cheek was deftly cut away from the jaws, the raw surfaces were packed with an antiseptic preparation to induce their healing apart, the patient was fed, and recuperation set in. Fager grew steadily better. The comfort and weariness of the sickbed gave way to restlessness, and in a few moments of the nurse's absence Fager got up, dressed himself and took a few turns about his room for exercise.

The shock to his weakened system started his wounds to bleeding. Fager got back into bed and waited for the nurse to return. To her he explained what he had done, and the doctors were sent for. By the time they arrived the patient had weakened from the loss of blood. Desperate efforts were made to stop the bleeding. Every plan known to the surgeons was resorted to. They all failed. All day and all night the lifeblood of the young engineer flowed from the open wound in his cheek.

More doctors were called in. Other measures for stanching the flow of red blood were tried. Again they failed, and all that day the bleeding went on, slowly, steadily, mercilessly. The patient grew weaker and weaker.

"He cannot live," said the surgeon whose keen blade had opened the wound.

"My friend," the doctor said, turning to the whitened face of the sufferer. "If you have any people, any very dear friends, any father, mother, tell us. We must send for them."

Fager smiled faintly. His lips parted as if to speak. The doctors bent close to catch his words. There was no sound.

"He's too far gone to talk," the doctor said.

A series of questions were put to the young man, and after many minutes the physicians and Fager's friends understood that the man had no relatives anywhere. He was a member of the Highland Park lodge of Odd Fellows and signified that he wanted that order to take charge of his body.

All hope had been given up when another doctor came into the sickroom. He suggested a new remedy. Fager helped rushed across the street to the college, broke open a window and got a quantity of gelatin. It was fed to Fager generously. He took it eagerly and showed signs of gaining strength. Within an hour the flow of blood had ceased, and the doctors announced that the young man would get well.

In Memoriam.

Admirers of Mark Twain believe he has never written anything more effective, says Harper's Weekly, than the little verse he had cut in the modest block of marble which marks the resting place of his wife in Woodlawn cemetery, Elmira, N. Y.:

Warm summer sun,
Shine kindly here,
Warm southern wind,
Blow softly here,
Green sod above,
Lie light, lie light,
Good night, dear heart,
Good night, good night.

Increase in Russian Train Wrecking.

Russian railroad officials are much alarmed over the increase in attempts to wreck trains in that country. The attempts average one in three days, and 11 per cent result in damage. It is proposed to arm all railway officials and give ex-soldiers positions whenever possible and in this way put a check to the practice.

THEODORE THOMAS STORIES

Incidents in the Career of the Well Known Orchestra Conductor.

The personality of the late Theodore Thomas, the eminent orchestral conductor, was especially interesting from the fact that his peculiarities were of a kind more frequently found among great generals, political leaders and captains of industry than among musicians, says the Buffalo Express.

Punctuality was one of his most conspicuous traits. So unswerving was he in this particular that his lieutenants and those members of his organization most ambitious to stand high in his regard adopted the rule of being on hand fifteen minutes in advance of the appointed time at all important engagements in which Mr. Thomas was personally concerned. It is said that one member of the orchestra determined to achieve the novel distinction in the course of an annual tour of arriving at the railway station, ready for departure, before Mr. Thomas should appear. Several times he attempted this feat, but he always found the leader there before him. This time, however, he walked into the station thirty minutes before starting time. But there, inside the waiting room, was Mr. Thomas!

At a musical festival in a southern city, says Everybody's Magazine, a local chorus was to take part with the Chicago orchestra directed by Theodore Thomas. One number had an orchestral prelude, the chorus to come in at a certain phrase. Four bars before the cue note was one somewhat similar, and when that was reached the chorus, being possibly overwrought or seized by some panic mania for blundering, promptly came in—four bars ahead of the proper place.

A frightful discord arose, and the manager, standing in the wings, literally tore his hair. The whole performance seemed falling about his ears in hopeless ruin.

But the next moment he found, to his amazement, no more discord, but orchestra and chorus moving along so amicably that only those familiar with the score suspected the imminent shipwreck. So to the end it went, smoothly and perfectly.

When it was over, big eyed and still mopping his brow, the manager sought Mr. Thomas.

"Say," he gasped, "I wish you would tell me how you did that!"

"Oh," said Mr. Thomas easily, "I just jumped the orchestra ahead four bars; that was all." But no one yet knows how.

NATIONAL GAME PRESERVE.

Tract of Land in Oklahoma to Be Stocked With Beasts and Birds.

The proposition to convert the national forest reserve in the Wichita mountains, in southwestern Oklahoma, into a national game preserve is meeting with such encouragement that already the plans for its maintenance are being considered, says a dispatch from Guthrie, Okla. It will be the first national game preserve in the entire United States.

Fifty-four miles of meshed and barbed wire fence will be used to inclose a twelve mile square tract of land, within which will be dams that will cover 8,000 acres with water.

In addition to this large tract will be the adjoining Fort Sill military reservation of 58,000 acres, now covered by the national game laws. The preserve's boundary line cuts in twain Mount Scott and Mount Sheridan, two of the loftiest peaks in the Wichitas, and it is hoped to get the consent of the general land department allowing these two mountains in their entirety to be inclosed.

The originator of the plan to establish such a preserve in Oklahoma is A. C. Cooper of Fort Sill, a typical western sportsman of the old type, who has made Fort Sill his headquarters for fourteen years. He began his service there as a United States infantryman and hunted all over the Wichita mountains in the days before any of Oklahoma was opened for settlement. He conceived the idea of converting the national forest preserve into a game preserve, and with a commission empowering him to act Cooper took the matter up with the National Sportsmen's league in their annual convention last February at Columbus, O., and so interested the delegates that a bill was immediately drafted. This bill has passed the house and is pending in the senate.

Already within the confines of this proposed preserve, which in effect will be a national breeding farm, there are many wild animals and birds. They exist entirely off the natural products of the land, such as acorns, haws and grubs. It is planned during the first year of the preserve to sow the valleys to Kafir corn and sunflowers, products which will seed the ground and insure an annual crop without replanting. These will furnish an additional big food supply to the game.

A Big Farm's Products.

What is believed to be the largest cultivated farm in the Indian Territory lies on a big bend in the Arkansas river in the Osage Nation, says the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal. This is known as the Bill Connor ranch. The river at that place makes a sweeping curve around twelve sections of land. It is a leasehold owned by H. Gilliland of Ponca City. A large per cent of this land is under cultivation. In 1903 there was 125,000 bushels of corn in addition to a big crop of cotton and other crops. The 1904 crop is larger. The corn is husked and piled on the ground in large ricks. One of these big piles of corn was sold just as it lay on the ground for $9,000 in cash. It is believed that the value of the 1904 corn crop on this farm will be $38,000, and the other crops will swell this amount to $50,000.

Would Help Farmers.

Superintendent Strachan of the Minnesota & International Railway company was in Bemidji the other day and was approached by a prominent business man regarding the rates for transporting cordwood over the line which are now in effect says the Daily Pioneer. Mr. Strachan had read the article published some time ago relative to the matter and stated that he was heartily in favor of a reduction in the rates now charged by the company and would use his influence to bring about a change. He said that he realized the importance of a rate reduction before all the pine now standing was cut down, as he knew that a fire would cause the destruction of a large amount of timber suitable for cordwood and would without a doubt occur as soon as the tops left after the pine had been removed became dry. This declaration on the part of a railway official indicates that the company does not oppose the reduction in rates and it is thought that if a petition signed by those interested were presented to the company the desired result could be brought about.

WORSE AND WORSE AND MORE OF IT

Belated No. 14 Ran into the Wreck at Cedar Lake Which Caused Excitement

ONE OF WRECKERS BROKE DOWN

Wreckage is Finally Cleared and
Train Arrived on Time at Midnight Last Night.

It would seem as though a wreck where fourteen cars had been piled up in a massive heap of debris would be enough for one company to have to stand in one day, but yesterday seemed to be an unfortunate day for the trainmen on the Superior division. The wreck of the fourteen cars at Cedar Lake kept two wreckers busy all day. One was sent from Duluth to work on the east side and the other went over from Staples to work on the west side. To add to the discomfiture of the occasion the wrecker from Staples broke down and had to be brought to the shops in this city for repairs. This delayed the workmen in getting the wreckage cleared up.

No. 14 which was to have gone through at an early hour yesterday morning was tied up at Deerwood all day. In the afternoon she went as far as the wreck and met No. 11 and the passengers were transferred from 11 to 14 and the latter backed up to Brainerd. Among those on the train was Willie Collier and his big Frohman company en route to Fargo where they were to perform last night. They did not leave the city for the west until twenty minutes of four and it is not likely that they gave the performance last night.

Train No. 14 left the city again about 5 o'clock for the east. Another accident occurred here that created considerable excitement. The wreckage is at the bottom of a grade and Engineer Thomas is said to have lost control of his air brakes and could not stop the train before it had smashed into the wreckage. Both engineer and fireman are said to have jumped.

Beyond smashing the engine up pretty badly no damage was done to the train. The passengers were pretty well shaken up.

Work continued with all possible speed in clearing up the wreck and by 11 o'clock last night the end was near and all the trains got out of the tieup. No. 11 arrived at Brainerd about on time and it is thought that all the trains will be on time today.

Do Not Control Mail boxes.

The postmaster general has just made
a ruling of considerable interest to all the patrons of rural delivery routes as well as to the carriers. The question arose in a small town in Ohio.

A local carrier found in a small box
on his route two letters that were intended for the owner of the box and had been put there by some one in passing.
The letters were confiscated and sent to the government at Washington with a request for a ruling. The government approved the action of the carrier and said that mail found in any box without stamps or the proper amount of money
for postage must be collected and taken to the postoffice from which the route
is operated and held for postage.

This ruling means that the owner of the mail box has absolutely no control over it.

States Marshal M. S. Converse brought
E. F. Niles, postmaster at Merrifield,
a small town a few miles north of Brainerd,
to Little Falls. He was taken before United States Commissioner Cameron, and charged with embezzlement.
He waived examination, and was taken to Duluth, where the federal grand jury
will consider his case this week.

The facts seem somewhat peculiar.
Nearly a year ago it is claimed that men
entered Postmaster Niles' place of business in Merrifield, and forced him to give them over $200 of postoffice funds,
and about the same amount of his own money.

The postoffice authorities investigated
the matter, and demanded that the postmaster make good the loss to the government. This Mr. Niles did. He has been able to convince the government that he should be reimbursed.
The government charges him with having embezzled the amount of that he was short after the robbery.

It is understood that Mr. Niles believes that a trial of his case will establish the fact that the robbery was genuine, and he thus hopes to induce
the department to repay him his loss.

He claims that there were witnesses
to the robbery.

KILLED BY HIS OLD FRIEND.

William Dippe of Iowa Slain on Fox
Island.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 11.—Word has been received here of the killing of William Dippe by Robert Ball on Fox Island, in Southeastern Alaska, on the evening of Jan. 2. The principals to the tragedy were friends and associates in some marble properties located close to the scene of the shooting until a few months ago, when they had a business disagreement which resulted in a personal encounter in this city in which Ball was worsted. Since that time they have been bitter enemies and it is said each had made threats to kill the other.

Ball was president of the Great American Marble company, a concern
capitalized at $70,000,000, until last October. Dippe came to this city from Iowa, where a number of relatives
are now living.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of them in Brainerd and Good Reason for it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
She finds relief and cure.
No reason why any Brainerd reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence
like this:

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, of 915 Main St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "I believe that after what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me they will help anyone similarly troubled. Before using them I suffered for six months from my kidneys. There was a miserable feeling of pressure over those organs and the secretions were scanty. Besides this there was a heavy pain across the small of my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills was gotten at a drug store and I took them with the result that they acted like a charm.
I can truthfully say that I have not had a symptom since."

On October 28, 1904, six years after giving the above statement, Mrs. Zellers said: "I am just as glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today as I was in 1898. I have not had an attack of kidney trouble since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, and must give them credit for a permanent cure."

Belated No. 14 Ran into the

ONE OF WRECKERS BROKE DOWN
Wreckage is Finally Cleared and
Train Arrived on Time at Mid-
night Last Night.

It would seem as though a wreck where fourteen cars had been piled up in a massive heap of debris would be enough for one company to have to stand in one day, but yesterday seemed to be an unfortunate day for the trainmen on the Superior division. The wreck of the fourteen cars at Cedar Lake kept two wreckers busy all day. One was sent from Duluth to work on the east side and the other went over from Staples to work on the west side. To add to the discomfiture of the occasion the wrecker from Staples broke down and had to be brought to the shops in this city for repairs. This delayed the workmen in getting the wreckage cleared up.

No. 14 which was to have gone through at an early hour yesterday morning was tied up at Deerwood all day. In the afternoon she went as far as the wreck and met No. 11 and the passengers were transferred from 11 to 14 and the latter backed up to Brainerd. Among those on the train was Willie Collier and his big Frohman company en route to Fargo where they were to perform last night. They did not leave the city for the west until twenty minutes of four and it is not likely that they gave the performance last night.

Train No. 14 left the city again about 5 o'clock for the east. Another accident occurred here that created considerable excitement. The wreckage is at the bottom of a grade and Engineer Thomas is said to have lost control of his air brakes and could not stop the train before it had smashed into the wreckage. Both engineer and fireman are said to have jumped.

Beyond smashing the engine up pretty badly no damage was done to the train. The passengers were pretty well shaken up.

Work continued with all possible speed in clearing up the wreck and by 11 o'clock last night the end was near and all the trains got out of the tieup. No. 11 arrived at Brainerd about on time and it is thought that all the trains will be on time today.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS

Every day sees an army of worn out women dragging themselves to work or forcing themselves to attend to their household duties—women whose trouble lies in an overstrain or over-exertion at some time in the past—women who stay in this condition and think themselves beyond repair, because they know nothing of the wonderful power of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give them back their health, strength and vitality, by their ability to re-supply the lost nerve energy, to build up the system, to manufacture good, rich blood, and give increased weight by making the digestion strong and vigorous.

Miss Ella Smith, of No. 48 Miller St. Newark, N. Y., writes:

"Last summer I was so weak I staggered when I walked. I was very nervous, easily excited, could not rest nights, blood thin, appetite poor and hands trembled—I was in a low state of health. About this time I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and though everything else had failed, these pills put me on my feet in good health, and that quickly, too. Do Not Control Mail boxes.

The postmaster general has just made a ruling of considerable interest to all the patrons of rural delivery routes as well as to the carriers. The question arose in a small town in Ohio.

A local carrier found in a small box on his route two letters that were intended for the owner of the box and had been put there by some one in passing. The letters were confiscated and sent to the government at Washington with a request for a ruling. The government approved the action of the carrier and said that mail found in any box without stamps or the proper amount of money for postage must be collected and taken to the postoffice from which the route is operated and held for postage.

This ruling means that the owner of the mail box has absolutely no control over it.

The Don McDonald who committed suicide in Cass Lake was at one time a resident of this city and worked in some of the saloons. He had just had a debauch at Cass Lake and it is presumed he was tired of the life he had led for some time and decided to end it all. In the first place he used a small penknife and stabbed himself and after being taken to a hospital for treatment escaped and was found the next day hanging from a beam in a small barn, stone dead.

NILES TAKEN TO DULUTH.

The Merrifield Postmaster Claims to be Able to Satisfy Government That He Was Robbed.

The Little Falls Transcript of Tuesday says:

Monday afternoon Deputy United States Marshal M. S. Converse brought E. F. Niles, postmaster at Merrifield, a small town a few miles north of Brainerd, to Little Falls. He was taken before United States Commissioner Cameron, and charged with embezzlement. He waived examination, and was taken to Duluth, where the federal grand jury will consider his case this week.

The facts seem somewhat peculiar. Nearly a year ago it is claimed that men entered Postmaster Niles' place of business in Merrifield, and forced him to give them over $200 of postoffice funds, and about the same amount of his own money.

The postoffice authorities investigated the matter, and demanded that the postmaster make good the loss to the government. This Mr. Niles did. He has been able to convince the government that he should be reimbursed. The government charges him with having embezzled the amount of that he was short after the robbery.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

The Don McDonald Who Committed Suicide at Cass Lake Was at One Time a Resident of this City.

The Don McDonald who committed suicide in Cass Lake was at one time a resident of this city and worked in some of the saloons. He had just had a debauch at Cass Lake and it is presumed he was tired of the life he had led for some time and decided to end it all. In the first place he used a small penknife and stabbed himself and after being taken to a hospital for treatment escaped and was found the next day hanging from a beam in a small barn, stone dead.

NILES TAKEN TO DULUTH.

The Merrifield Postmaster Claims to be Able to Satisfy Government That He Was Robbed.

The Little Falls Transcript of Tuesday says:

Monday afternoon Deputy United States Marshal M. S. Converse brought E. F. Niles, postmaster at Merrifield, a small town a few miles north of Brainerd, to Little Falls. He was taken before United States Commissioner Cameron, and charged with embezzlement. He waived examination, and was taken to Duluth, where the federal grand jury will consider his case this week.

The facts seem somewhat peculiar. Nearly a year ago it is claimed that men entered Postmaster Niles' place of business in Merrifield, and forced him to give them over $200 of postoffice funds, and about the same amount of his own money.

The postoffice authorities investigated the matter, and demanded that the postmaster make good the loss to the government. This Mr. Niles did. He has been able to convince the government that he should be reimbursed. The government charges him with having embezzled the amount of that he was short after the robbery.

It is understood that Mr. Niles believes that a trial of his case will establish the fact that the robbery was genuine, and he thus hopes to induce the department to repay him his loss.

He claims that there were witnesses to the robbery.

KILLED BY HIS OLD FRIEND.

William Dippe of Iowa Slain on Fox Island.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 11.—Word has been received here of the killing of William Dippe by Robert Ball on Fox Island, in Southeastern Alaska, on the evening of Jan. 2. The principals in the tragedy were friends and associates in some marble properties located close to the scene of the shooting until a few months ago, when they had a business disagreement which resulted in a personal encounter in this city in which Ball was worsted. Since that time they have been bitter enemies and it is said each had made threats to kill the other.

Ball was president of the Great American Marble company, a concern capitalized at $70,000,000, until last October. Dippe came to this city from Iowa, where a number of relatives are now living.

There is a bare possibility that Billy Rhodes and Jimmy Potts, two well known masters of the prize ring, will give a glove contest in this city in the near future under the auspices of the local aerie of Eagles.

The two men are among the fastest in their class in the northwest and the contest ought to be a good one. A committee from the Eagles has been appointed to make arrangements for the affair.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of them in Brainerd and Good Reason for it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure. No reason why any Brainerd reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, of 915 Main St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "I believe that after what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me they will help anyone similarly troubled. Before using them I suffered for six months from my kidneys. There was a miserable feeling of pressure over those organs and the secretions were scanty. Besides this there was a heavy pain across the small of my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills were gotten at a drug store and I took them with the result that they acted like a charm. I can truthfully say that I have not had a symptom since."

On October 28, 1904, six years after giving the above statement, Mrs. Zellers said: "I am just as glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today as I was in 1898. I have not had an attack of kidney trouble since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, and must give them credit for a permanent cure."

Sold for 50 cents a box by H. P. Dunn & Co., and all druggists. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all.

A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so loud in its praise that I told her that I would take it to please her.

I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

You can be free from menstrual irregularities if you take this pure vegetable wine. Why don't you take it when you see what it has done for others? Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

SHOT L/ SAFE BLOWERS.

Indiana Merchant Probably Fatally Wounded.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 11.—About 1 o'clock Wednesday morning J. C. Turpin, a merchant at Red Key, was awakened by an explosion due to the work of two safe crackers on the vault in the postoffice. Running from his store toward the postoffice he encountered the robbers, who had left the postoffice temporarily to avoid the explosion and who were then returning to loot the contents of the safe. Turpin started to give the alarm and was shot in the side, possibly fatally. His cries aroused other citizens and the robbers fled after a running fight. Men are in pursuit of the fugitives, who are believed to be heading toward Muncie.

HOT FIGHT BREAKS OUT.

Western Stockmen Oppose Move of Railways and Packers.

Denver, Jan. 11.—A hot fight has broken out in the ranks of the National Live Stock association over the question of whether or not railways or packers are to have representation on the governing board of the association.

President Frank Hagenbarth is in favor of this plan and has urged it strongly.

There is a heavy contingent of stockmen, particularly those from the West, who are bitterly opposed to the idea and they are making the fight of their lives to keep the matter of their organization solely in the hands of men who are actively engaged in the handling or care of stock.

You Can Be Cured.

No. 11 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., April 28, 1903.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all.

A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so loud in its praise that I told her that I would take it to please her.

I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

WINE OF CARDUI

Mrs. Finnegan had little hope of relief because she knew that every time she had those spells of menstrual suffering with attendant bearing down pains she was weaker. And every month the pain was growing more severe.

But Mrs. Finnegan was cured by Wine of Cardui. She is now so well that there are few women who would not be glad to have the health she has. And any woman who has those dreaded bearing down pains can have the same relief.

You can be free from menstrual irregularities if you take this pure vegetable wine. Why don't you take it when you see what it has done for others? Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

Your druggist has $1.00 bottles.
